Problem of Liquor Traffic Monopolizes the Attention of Our Day.

Has From Time Immemorial Baffled Civilization of All Nations.

Neither Maine Nor Kansas Have Ever Been Prohibition States.

WHAT KANSAS FIGURES SHOW

If any question monopolizes the attention of our day, it is the problem revolving about the liquor traffic. The question has from time immemorial baffled the civilization of all nations. And even in this enlightened age of ours it has not pleased the minds of our great social reformers and moral leaders. It has been the question mark of ages, the enigma of time. This problem remains in spite of centuries of legislative effort, a tacit testimony which reinforces the statement that physical remedies and external coercion will not cure moral disorders, however much they may lessen the incidence of temptation. Hence moral suasion and religion, which alone strengthen the will, are the only adequate and safe remedy. Still we find a large number of social reformers offering panaceas, but all in vain. One of these so-called reforms is comprehended under the policy of prohibition, which attempts to solve the problem by unmasking the manufacture, sale and use of liquor. All who have investigated the drink problem fully realize the gravity of its nature and unhesitatingly admit the prevalent abuses and also the urgent need of reform, but the notion that prohibition is the solution of the problem is not seconded by the majority. Still we find many well-meaning people among prohibitionists, who have been lured into the meshes of this charlatanism by the fair promises of a Utopia. Many of these people would not adhere to strict prohibition if they knew what it stands for. If "saw" thinking is done today, is no "saw" at all. Its truth is manifested in all walks of life and especially in our legislation, where love of extremes seems to be a chief characteristic. People today do not think. They allow themselves to be duped by any nostrum that gains any prominence. It is not my purpose to unmask the many errors of this so-called reform movement, but only to review some well asserted and distorted views which seem to have gained much undeserved vogue of late. That the prohibitionist is an extremist is inevitable; for he condemns wine as a malum per se. But is not every atom of wine contained in the grape? And is not the grape a creature of God? "Wine was created in the beginning to make men jovial," St. Chrysostom and other fathers of the church called wine "a gift of God." But the prohibitionist maintains that it is concocted by human depravity inspired by the devil.

This proves that the prohibitionist is an extremist. But what is the aim of prohibition? To suppress the drink vice. Did you ever hear of man suppressing vice? That is something divine and cannot be warped by man. Yet this is the very aim of prohibition. The prohibitionists would correct the liquor evil by destroying liquor itself. Did you ever hear of a reform movement that destroys the thing in question? It sounds like socialism, attempting to reform society by destroying it. Again many who call themselves prohibitionists are only restrictionists. For instance, the Catholic prohibitionist is not a strict prohibitionist, but only a restrictionist. When he preaches prohibition he means restriction. The Hobson resolution is not prohibition, because it allows the manufacture, sale, importation and transportation of liquors for sacramental, medicinal and pharmaceutical purposes. Kansas is not a prohibition State because it exempts medicinal and scientific purposes. Maine is far less a prohibition State because it permits the manufacture and sale of hard cider. The radical prohibitionist would brush away all these exemptions. But why say that the two so-called banner prohibition States, Maine and Kansas, are not prohibition? Mr. Cyrus W. Davis, Secretary of State of Maine, and Hon. Royal E. Cabell, in their pamphlet, "The Two Banner Prohibition States," prove very conclusively that neither Maine nor Kansas are prohibition States. Mr. Davis says, "Maine has never been or never will be a prohibition State until public opinion precedes legal enactment. Maine is a temperate State," while in Kansas, in which the sale of liquor is prohibited for all purposes excepting the aforesaid, there were registered for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1913, 733 persons qualified under the Federal laws to retail liquors; while in the license State of Arkansas, only 873 qualified under the Federal laws. Now, let us see what prohibition has done for Kansas, in the way of social betterment. If prohibition prevents suicide, why is the suicide rate in Kansas higher than in twenty-one States in which liquor is legally sold? If prohibition prevents insanity why is the rate of insanity in Kansas higher than in sixteen States in which liquor is lawfully sold, and why should it cost nearly one million dollars annually to care for the insane, etc.? If prohibition prevents pauperism why is the pauper rate in Kansas higher than the pauper rate in ten States where liquor is lawfully sold? Don't talk about prohibition blessings in Kansas. Among the States that have had quasi-prohibition we find that Vermont, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Michigan, Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska, Pennsylvania and South Dakota have abandoned prohibition for license. This goes to show that prohibition has had a rather disastrous experiment where it has rested on the statute books.

ORPHAN PICNIC.

Plans are now splendidly under way for making the approaching Fourth of July picnic and festival for the benefit of the orphans of St. Vincent and St. Thomas Asylums a grand success. A well attended and enthusiastic meeting of the General Committee was held in the Knights of Columbus Hall last Monday evening, presided over by Chairman Thomas Tarry, who declared it the "grandest meeting ever held in Louisville in the interest of the orphans." Many varied and interesting features are to be introduced at this year's celebration and there is little doubt about the unprecedented attendance on July 5. The attractive grounds surrounding St. Vincent's are to be enhanced with floral and flag decorations, and for the evening there will be a grand illumination. Nothing is to be spared that will make the St. Vincent Orphanage grounds the most inviting spot in Louisville that evening. The Right Rev. Bishop O'Donoghue and many of the local clergy were present, among them Rev. Fathers Monaghan, Raffo, Gausepohl, Melody, Julius, White, Donahue, Willett and Martin O'Connor. Bishop O'Donoghue was called upon and assured his hearty support of the orphans and that he would do all in his power to promote the Fourth of July orphan picnic. He reminded those present that a Bishop could not take care of a diocese alone, but must have the co-operation of his people. In closing he made an appeal to all to support this picnic in their usual charitable way. All committees made encouraging reports. Chairman Tarry announced that Mrs. M. J. Parlin has been given charge of the linen booth, and that she would welcome the assistance of the ladies generally. An earnest appeal was made for donations to the parcel post auction, with the request that they be worth at least twenty-five cents. The next meeting will be held Monday night, when all friends of the orphans are invited to be present. Though they are not in the limelight the officers and members of the Catholic Orphan Society are working night and day in behalf of this celebration and the little ones they would care for.

FOR IRISH DAY.

Division I, A. O. H., at its regular meeting last week took the first steps looking to an Irish day celebration, which will most likely be held during the month of August. The matter is now in the hands of the Entertainment Committee, who will report at the meeting next Thursday night. There was a good attendance when President Mark Ryan took the chair, and the promptness with which the business was dispatched pleased all present. Daniel McCarthy read the memorial on the death of the wife of Secretary James Barry, which was ordered placed on a page in the minutes. Chairman Martin Gavin reported that Martin Cusick was improving slowly and that the condition of the Dugan remained unchanged. Division I has a number of candidates awaiting initiation, and a date will soon be set for the conferring of the degrees. President Ryan makes an urgent appeal to all members to be present Thursday night to lend their assistance to the Irish day celebration.

CLINES—HOWE.

One of the prettiest of the June wedding here took place at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning, when Miss Gertrude Howe was led to the altar by John M. Clines at St. Peter's church, Seventeenth and Garland avenue. Rev. Edmund Kaiser performed the beautiful ceremony and was the celebrant of the nuptial mass that followed. After the ceremony the bride couple remained for the congratulatory of relatives and friends and then went to the home of the bride, where a very fine wedding breakfast was awaiting them. Mr. and Mrs. Clines left for an extended honeymoon trip to Chicago and the Lake region, and upon their return will reside at 2123 Portland avenue, where they will welcome their friends.

HOLY ROSARY COMMENCEMENT. Bertrand Hall was taxed to its full capacity Friday evening when the graduating exercises of Holy Rosary Academy were held. "The Court of Juno" was elegantly presented, and the grand tableaux at the close presented a scene of loveliness, in which all the participants in the drama were grouped around a shrine giving honor to Mary, the Queen of Heaven. Very Rev. T. L. Crowley crowned the academic graduates, Misses Anna Katherine Keane and Mary Etta Sullivan, and presented the rings and diplomas. Those receiving rings and diplomas in the commercial department were Misses Mary Edward Phelan, Julia Louise Filben, Mary Ella Grant, Cecilia Virginia McNally and Norene Elizabeth McNally. After conferring the honors Father Crowley congratulated the graduates and then in a very eloquent address set forth the advantages of education.

SHAKEUP

British Cabinet Likely to Have to Undergo Further Changes.

Recent Appointments Are Unsatisfactory to Both Liberals and Unionists.

Violent Opposition to Appointment of Extreme Ulsterite Leader Campbell.

CARSON'S LEADING LIEUTENANT

Writing to the Chicago Tribune, its London correspondent takes a rather gloomy view of the British political situation. That still further changes in the British Cabinet are impending is apparent from the unfriendly reception which the reconstructed administration of Premier Asquith has received at the hands of Parliament and of the United Kingdom at large. If he has, with the consent of the Crown, jettisoned eight of his Liberal colleagues, headed by Lords Haldane and Beauchamp, in order to give their Ministerial portfolios to Unionists, it was for the purpose of placating the opposition and in order to unite all forces in Parliament in the defense of the empire. The Unionists, however, are not satisfied. They have come to the conclusion that any trial of strength with the Asquith Government as formerly constituted would have resulted in its defeat, and that under the circumstances they are entitled to a larger number of offices than eight in a Cabinet of twenty-two. They argue that they should have at least two other portfolios in order to equalize matters. This would give them ten seats, as compared with ten retained by the Liberals, the two other portfolios being held by Arthur Henderson, who is a Labor member, and Lord Kitchener, who is a non-party man. On the other hand, the rank and file of the Liberals are violently opposed to the concession of the seats of Lord High Chancellor of Ireland to the Right Hon. James H. M. Campbell, who will be recalled as the principal lieutenant of Sir Edward Carson in his anti-home rule agitation prior to the war and for his encouragement of armed rebellion, as one of the most extreme of Ulsterite leaders. Liberal objection to Campbell becoming Lord High Chancellor of Ireland is due to the fact that, as such, he would enjoy the right of making nominations to all the judicial and ministerial offices in the Emerald Isle. That these powers should be conferred to a man so absolutely irreconcilable toward everything in the nature of that Irish home rule to which both Parliament and Crown are committed is intolerable to the Liberals, and more especially to the Nationalists, who are said to have intimidated to the Prime Minister the cabinet support of Campbell's being entrusted with the custody of the great seal in Ireland they will be forced into an attitude of opposition to the administration and to withdraw their support which it has hitherto enjoyed. The defection of the Nationalist party would not be sufficient to wreck the coalition Cabinet were it able to rely upon that unimpaired support of the rank and file of the Liberal and Unionist parties. But it is idle to look for this.

Another source of dissatisfaction on the part of the Unionists is that the Cabinet offices which they have received are not of sufficient importance. Thus the woolsack, the Presidency of the Privy Council, the Chancellorship of the Exchequer, the First Lord of the Treasury, the new Ministry of Munitions, the Secretaryships of State for Home and Foreign Affairs, the Departments of Trade and Commerce, the Chief Secretaryships of Scotland and of Ireland, and the Department of Public Works all remain in the possession of the Liberals, and the only offices of the first class accorded to the Unionists are the Secretaryships of State for the Colonies and for India and the First Lordship of the Admiralty.

T. P. O'Connor, M. P., who has been most optimistic and still pins his faith to England's justice to Ireland, admits that an awkward pause, especially in Liberal party circles, followed the creation of the new Ministry. Sturdy Liberals did not see the disappearance of the great Liberal Ministry without many pangs and sore misgivings, and they began immediately to speculate as to the future fate of such outstanding Liberal reforms as home rule and plural voting. These misgivings were not mitigated by the entrance of Sir Edward Carson into the Ministry as Attorney General, which was a veritable shock to Liberal and working class opinion. F. E. Smith's appointment as Solicitor General for he is notable as Carson's lieutenant—was an added shock, and for some days there existed something like the dangerous beginnings of a Liberal revolt.

NOTRE DAME.

Fitzgerald, ex-Mayor of Boston. The degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred on Right Rev. John Carroll, John Fitzgerald, Joseph Scott, Rev. Charles Woodman and Rev. Charles Noll.

CALIFORNIA.

Founding of First Mission There, Their Secularization and Spoilation.

Father de Lasuen's Work as the Successor of Father Serra.

Completed the Chain of Missions From San Diego to Sonoma.

TAUGHT THE INDIANS TRADES

By James A. Rooney, LL. D.
On the death at Monterey of Father Junipero Serra, the apostle and founder of the Franciscan Indian missions of California, August 28, 1784, the man selected by the Custos of the College of San Fernando in Mexico, who was charged with the management of the missions, to succeed him was Father Fermín Francisco de Lasuen, whose death occurred one hundred and twelve years ago this week. He was appointed prefect of the missions February 6, 1785, and he proved to be a wise and firm official as well as a zealous and energetic missionary. He continued the establishment of that wonderful 600 miles long chain of twenty-one missions designed by Father Serra and extended from San Diego to Sonoma, through whose instrumentalities the conversion of all the natives of the coast was accomplished. It was on July 16, 1774, that Father Serra began the work that has made him one of California's historical characters, by founding the mission of San Diego, and it was not until long after his death had been called to his reward that the chain was completed by the founding of the mission of Sonoma by Altamira in 1823. Of these missions five are to be credited to the zeal and personal exertions of Father de Lasuen. On June 11, 1797, he founded the mission of San Jose, about fifteen miles north of San Jose City; on the 24th of the same month he founded the mission of San Juan Bautista on the west side of the San Benito river in the county of that name; next in order in July came the establishment of San Miguel; then San Fernando in Los Angeles county, and in the following year the mission of San Luis Rey in San Diego county.

Besides these there were founded during Father de Lasuen's Presidency the missions of Santa Barbara, December 4, 1786; La Purisima Concepcion, December 8, 1787; Santa Cruz, August 28, 1791. He also built a new stone church at Monterey, where the mission buildings had been destroyed by fire in 1789. He introduced the teaching of trades to the mission Indians, looms for weaving were installed and out of leather tanned at the missions shoes, harness and saddles were manufactured. Men and boys turned out to be such good carpenters, blacksmiths and masons that the Spanish settlers hired them for work on their settlements. At San Luis Rey, one of the largest of the missions, there were at one time gathered 3,500 Indian converts. During the incumbency of Father de Lasuen, the mission of Santa Ines, the successor, the mission of Santa Ines was founded in 1804 and under the next President some of the missions suffered from earthquake shocks, particularly San Juan Capistrano, where on December 8, 1812, many members of the congregation were killed by the fall of the steeple. But when Spain first and later Mexico issued decrees for secularizing the California missions were doomed and enforcement of this enactment was the beginning of the end.

When the Mexican decree was issued, November 20, 1823, there were over 30,000 mission Indians living contentedly and peacefully, learning the arts of civilization, with 424,000 cattle, 62,500 horses, 321,500 sheep, and the annual grain crop amounted to 123,500 bushels, not to take into account the goods of various kinds manufactured by the Indians. In a few years under the new regime disease and starvation reduced the number of the Indians to 4,450, and by the most outrageous robbery and plunder they were despoiled of their possessions. Father Catala, an eye witness to the destruction of the missions, predicted that the plunderers would be deprived of their ill-gotten gains, that great wealth would be discovered in California and that it would be distributed among people from all parts of the world and of all creeds and nationalities. The old fever of 1849 verified the prediction.

GRADUATES IN JOURNALISM.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Kelly, of Lexington, were in New York City for a few days' stay last week, having come to the metropolis to attend the graduation of their son, William Kelly, from the Columbia School of Journalism. Mrs. Kelly's sister, Miss Katherine Loughlin, was with them.

REPUBLICANS

Give Cold Shoulder to O'Rear and His Prohibition Policies.

Convention Conspicuous by the Names of Former Local Bull Mooseers.

Delegates Who Were Candidates on Axton Ticket Two Years Ago.

HALY'S COMBINATION OF THREE

Just as was predicted, the Republican State convention this past week paved the way for the nomination of E. P. Morrow for Governor, and his nomination is assured in the August primary. One of the features of the convention was the cold reception given the prohibitionist leader, Judge O'Rear, who seems to be about as unpopular in his party as his fellow-prohibitionist advocate Beckham is in the Democratic party. Invitations were extended to the Bull Mooseers of the past two elections to again fall in behind the G. O. P. band wagon, and many of them fell all over themselves in accepting the invite, among them being many Progressives from Louisville, where all of the rabid ones came from, and conspicuous among the list of delegates were the names of Hugh Ellis, who was the Bull Moose candidate for Alderman only last year; Ellis E. Quigley, candidate for Balliff of Police Court in 1913; Greaser, candidate for Park Commissioner; J. H. Scales and Fred O'Bann, candidates for Alderman; J. B. Monroe, who was a candidate for County Assessor; Dr. C. I. Groves, who was the nominee for Coroner, and C. K. Jackson, a nominee for Constable.

Other prominent Bull Moose leaders who were found smuggling themselves back into the Republican fold were W. S. Markoff, who dropped Taft like a hot potato in 1912, because of political reasons, he stated, and carried many of his friends and railroad associates into the Progressive ranks. Other names conspicuous because of their past association with the Progressives were J. T. Remondin, of oratorical fame; Dave Helmerding, the Progressive leader; Robert Donahue, William DeForester, William T. Naves and other lesser lights.

Following the lead of these, the Louisville Herald begins its comeback act by saying that the convention at Lexington was not half bad, that it might have been worse, and intimates that its support and that of the few leading lights of the Progressive party that are left will be found behind the G. O. P. if the local judicial nominations are made to suit their feelings. The Herald plaintively says there should be no room for two opinions in choosing these nominees, which is characteristic of the Roosevelt doctrine, one opinion only and that to be his. This step of the Herald was predicted in these columns six months ago, and it was also predicted that the Republican party would be the gainer if some of the deserters never came back into the fold. To this end the leaders should work and forever ostracize from the ranks the men who in pursuing a narrow-minded purpose are willing to wreck any political party or organization.

The situation has not changed much in Democratic circles, many of the former McChesney supporters drifting into the McDermott camp, realizing that he would be the strongest man in November, while Percy Haly has set in the works, so to speak, of the machine in behalf of Tom Rhea for Auditor. Claude Terrell for Treasurer and Barkdale Hamlett for Secretary of State, and realizing the power of the big Democratic vote in this, the Fifth district, it is rumored that he has commissioned his friend Dan O'Sullivan to line up the Louisville and Jefferson county Democracy for these three. It is also rumored that the machine is responsible for the opposition to Alvin Steger for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, this being done because the latter refused to allow the appointments in his office traded to suit the policy of the State machine. This opposition comes pretty late, as Mr. Steger seems to have come and gone with that nomination.

William H. McCullough, the well known young attorney, has entered the race for the Democratic nomination for Representative from the Sixth and Seventh wards and has already received many assurances of support, being a good mixer and campaign orator. E. S. Dorsey is another entrant for Representative in the Forty-fourth district and is making a splendid canvass. As predicted exclusively in these columns two weeks ago, A. W. Dorsey was appointed to succeed the late Magistrate P. T. Sullivan, and will, in all probability, be a candidate in the August primary with John O'Brien, P. J. Welsh and George Butler, of the Circuit Clerk's office, as possible opponents.

Local Democratic leaders claim to be very well pleased with the outlook for this year and next, and claim that in getting rid of Bryan (the national) Democratic administration achieved a master stroke, this in the opinion of many being sure to offset any defection because of hard times. To fill the cup to overflowing the only thing necessary now would be the resignation of Beckham as United States Senator, and it is believed that it would be the proper thing for the latter to do, the two Busy B's then being able to go on the Chautauqua circuit and lecture on grape juice to their heart's content. The Democratic party could well survive their loss.

LUCY BRENNAN DEAD.

Friends, family and neighbors were sadly bereaved Monday evening by the death of Mrs. Lucy Brennan, widow of Daniel Brennan, which occurred at her home, 2314 West Chestnut street, following an illness of pneumonia. Mrs. Brennan was a native of Ireland, coming to this country while a child and Louisville had been her home ever since. Beloved and revered by all St. Charles Borromeo parish, and who knew her, she had lived long in her unselfishness, her generosity of heart and purse and her devotion to religion earned for her a name that will ever be spoken with respect and admiration. She was never anything but kind, as she was never else than a good Catholic wife and mother. Mrs. Brennan was first cousin of Bishop O'Donoghue, and is survived by eight children. They are James, Daniel, Andrew, Michael, Edward, Misses Elizabeth and Mary and Mrs. F. A. Nolan. Three grandchildren also survive. They are Misses Mae and Adeline Lucy Brennan and John Edward Brennan. Miss Mae Brennan is the daughter of the late John Brennan. Two sisters, Mrs. Bridget Barry and Miss Ellen Hyde, and two brothers, Michael Hyde, of Ireland, and Patrick Hyde, of Chicago, also survive. The funeral was held Wednesday morning from St. Charles church, which was overcrowded. Rev. Charles P. Raffo was the celebrant of the requiem high mass, assisted by Fathers Felten and Brey as deacon and subdeacon. Father Raffo in his sermon spoke with much feeling and his tribute to the memory of this estimable woman must have brought comfort and consolation to the stricken hearts of the family. Father Raffo said Mrs. Brennan was beautiful in life and beautiful in death, known and loved by many for her noble character, her great faith in humankind and her still greater faith in God. Bishop O'Donoghue gave the final absolution.

NARROW ESCAPE.

While returning Tuesday from an evening visit with the Rev. J. J. Fitzgerald, of St. Leo's church, Highland Park, the Rev. Father Joseph O'Grady, of St. Aloysius church, this city, met with a serious accident and narrowly escaped fatal injury. Father O'Grady had been out to inspect the Father Fitzgerald to deliver the sermon on Monday evening at St. Aloysius church, and the accident occurred when he ran across the tracks in front of an approaching car in his effort to catch it. The car was going down grade and at the great speed the Father O'Grady was reckoned. The impact of the car hurled him several feet, but Father Fitzgerald and others at once secured medical assistance. Dr. Cessna making an examination and having the injured priest removed to St. Joseph's Infirmary, where he is resting easy, and if no complications arise it is thought he will soon be able to resume his pastoral duties. Father O'Grady has been in delicate health for some time past, and the news of his injury greatly alarmed his parishioners and neighbors, by whom he is held in the highest esteem.

CATHOLIC KNIGHTS.

Gen. Michael Reichert presided at the monthly meeting of the Central Committee, C. K. of A., in St. John's Hall, the attendance being very gratifying. In addition to the regular business, the members were discussed for the entertainment of the coming State convention, which has been placed in the hands of the Entertainment Committee. The headquarters will be at the Tyler Hotel. It was also decided to give the annual midsummer excursion to Jasper, Ind., committees being instructed to confer with the Southern railway officials as to the time and report at the next meeting. Announcement was made that Company A. Uniform Rank, would give a jubilee excursion to Tell City before the end of the season. It was with feelings of sincere regret that the delegates learned of the critical illness of Capt. John B. Murphy at his home in Jeffersonville, and also of the daughter of President Ben Kruse, which was the cause of his absence.

CONFIRMED LARGE CLASS.

Right Rev. Bishop Denis O'Donoghue confirmed a class of 102 children and several adults at St. Louis Bertrand's church last Sunday afternoon, being assisted by Rev. Fathers Felten and Monahan. In a short address Bishop O'Donoghue spoke of confirmation being one of the epochs in Catholic life and that the young children before him would now become soldiers and helpers of their Mother Church. He also said that he was not a stranger to that parish, having conferred the sacrament of confirmation in St. Louis Bertrand's when he was Auxiliary Bishop of Indianapolis. The sponsors for the class were Messrs. S. J. McElliot, John J. Barry, Mrs. John M. Brennan and Miss Lily Gordon.

STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL.

Edward F. Kelly and his associates of the Entertainment Committee of St. James church are endeavoring to corner the market on large and luscious strawberries for their monster strawberry festival, which takes place on the church lawn on Edenside avenue on June 28.

ENGLAND

Suppressing Irish Newspapers For Publishing True War News.

Imprisoning Irish Citizens For Expressions of Fair Opinions.

LONDON CENSORS DISPATCHES

Very few Irish or Irish Americans in America know how the people in Ireland are being treated in connection with the world war, and they can not depend upon the censorable coming via London, which are doctored to give the impression that the Irish in Ireland are heroes and soul with England in this war. The following extracts from an article by a Dublin journalist, some idea of the browbeaten tactics used by the British Government in suppressing public opinion and crushing the Irish newspaper that dared publish any war news unfavorable to the allies. The following is a list of some of the papers suppressed:

The Irish Worker, a weekly labor paper in Dublin, was suppressed. It said no more and no less than other labor organs in England about the war, but the distinction was drawn that Ireland was a conquered country, and free-thought that might be allowed in England could not be tolerated in Ireland.

Sinn Fein, a weekly Nationalist paper in Dublin, was suppressed for giving expression to what (three-fourths of the Irish in Ireland) were thinking about the war.

Irish Freedom, another paper, for advocating the rights of small nationalities, in other words for expressing the opinion of Serbia and Belgium were completely independent of the Irish nation—"Irish Freedom" was also suppressed.

The Irish Volunteer, organ of the Irish Volunteers, interfered with and every possible way.

Forcible reason where England concerned was not actually pressed. It was read weekly thousands upon thousands of arm men and it escaped suppression.

To counteract the loathsome daily list of lies printed by the bough Irish press, a little paper called Ireland was published in Dublin. It took a moderate and impartial aspect about the war and it gave a truthful idea about its progress. It, too, was suppressed.

Finally, a little bi-weekly publication called Scissors and was issued. It contained nothing but extracts from Irish press. These extracts were acknowledged to the papers which they were cut, but as in case of opinions so in the case of news, things that were allowed to be published in London were banned in Dublin. Scissors and Paste was pressed.

The freedom of the press is now at an end in Ireland, and was open for the suppression of freedom of opinion, not to mention freedom of speech.

An unfortunate shoemaker in the County Cork was arrested and tried by court-martial for having in his possession copies of Irish Freedom, even before that paper was suppressed by the Dublin Castle authorities, and for also making the simple remark that the Germans had just as much right to be in Belgium as the English had to be in Ireland no more.

A postal official named Hegarty was ordered to leave the County Cork, and when he went to Cork, in the County Wexford, arrested for having leaflets in his possession containing the Government's assurances. Roger Casement about Ireland contents of the leaflets. Casement was arrested and was in the possession of the Dublin Castle authorities. Not content with arresting the Dublin Castle authorities (used to allow the report of his trial to be published. On the morning of his trial a peremptory note received by the various Dublin papers from Sir Matthew Nathan, Under Secretary at Dublin, peremptorily ordering the papers to give only the bare outline of charges, and furthermore make the diabolical suggestion that the charges should be made as black as possible against the unfortunate prisoner.

KEPT CLERK BUSY.

This has been a busy week for the Simon marriage license clerk at the Court House, who issues licenses to the following: Pagan and Catherine Nally, Jerome King, Jr., and George Stevenson, Robert E. O'Reilly, Virginia Warren, William and Margaret Murphy, Hattie and Mary E. Callahan, and others.

MEXICO.

There has been little news from Mexico this week that has been satisfactory, the situation rather hanging for the worse. The True Voice in its last issue reviewing the situation wonders what the end will be, and then goes on to say that when President Wilson warned the leaders of the revolutionary factions in Mexico to compose their differences and bring peace to that distracted country or we might be forced to do it for them, he doubtless meant for them to cease their senseless warfare. But both Villa and Carranza at once concluded that recognition by Washington was now within reach for himself. All that was needed was to annihilate the other chief and his forces. Washington stood ready to recognize the victor and to supply him with arms and munitions. So they resumed hostilities with renewed vigor and the press agents and bandit chiefs are claiming many victories for his chief. They have been fought a question of a few days, and the last story shall be gained. (It depends upon whose press agent you believe in who the victor is to be). At any rate, the dove of peace is to settle upon Mexico soon, according to all press agents.

Meanwhile conditions in Mexico are going from bad to worse. The cities are starving and mobs are being for bread. What care the new leaders or their followers for the people of Mexico or their needs? The situation has become their property the only one they know. The industry has been all but wiped out by the outlaw bands that sweep across the country. There is no law, and it is the man with a gun who gets what he wants. Why should they give up the profession of arms at the bidding of President Wilson? What care they if women and children starve in the streets? They call themselves soldiers and take what they please. We have now little hope that relief can be brought to Mexico except by intervention on the part of the United States. It is a last resort and a most unwelcome one. But we have been leading up to it for quite a while, and we are now about to reap the results of our mistaken policy of "watchful waiting" persisted in with no other alternative but intervention presents itself.

VULGARIZING CHILDREN.

The Outlook a writer deploras the ways in which the minds of American children are today vulgarized. The presence of the vulgar (?) supplement in the suggestive and therefore vulgarizing features of the picture shows, the trashy and positively immoral stories that children are permitted to read and other influences are decried.

It is pointed out that while much has been done and great solicitude shown about the bodily health and care of the young, people who have this high regard for the physical welfare of children are very often heedless about the things that tend to vulgarize young minds. To be vulgar is to be next to wicked and immoral in thought; indeed people often characterize as merely vulgar what others, with better ideals and standards, look upon as sinful.

their innocence and their right to be preserved from what is not strictly clean in morals.

To quote one passage from this writer: "The moving picture in some form is part of the recreation of the country. It has great educational possibilities and manifold wholesome uses; but many of the films, although not indecent, are in the last degree vulgar. They cheapen love, marriage, family life. They lower the respect of boys for women, the respect of girls for themselves. They idealize burglary and crimes of many kinds, and they menace the welfare of the country. What is going on is not so much the corruption of young people as their vulgarization."

There is not a very wide gap between vulgarization and corruption, comments the Western World. Vulgarity is very prevalent, and is becoming more so; corruption is prevalent and seems to be extending.

PHASE OF DIVORCE EVIL.

When we read the reports of divorce trials, even the meagre ones that respectable newspapers print, we see revealed in nearly every case a violation of the Sixth commandment. The law planted intuitively in the human heart, that law thundered forth on Sinai and written on the tablet of stone which Moses gave the Jews, is being treated with the utmost flippancy in the divorce courts and in the papers which report the proceedings. The scandal spreads, so that easy views of a crime which strikes at the very basis of society become common; the horror of it lessens gradually, and with many is regarded as a matter-of-course affair.—Buffalo Echo.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

Division 1 will meet next Thursday evening.

Every one of the eight Indianapolis divisions will have candidates for the county initiation.

The County Board has again taken the matter up of giving the annual outing at Phoenix Hill Park.

The Hibernian Social Club is working hard to make their moonlight excursion a big success.

John Quinn was obligated at the meeting of Division 4 and Michael Mulloy elected to membership.

The time has arrived for holding that big initiation. This will bring into the fold many active workers.

Great crowds are looked for tomorrow at the Irish games of Division 2 in Glen Park, San Francisco.

Dunkirk Hibernians will offer gold medals to the graduating class of St. Mary's Academy of that city.

A division of the Ladies' Auxiliary has been established in St. Catherine's parish, making the tenth in Indianapolis.

President Mark Ryan makes an urgent appeal to members of Division 1 to attend the meeting next Thursday night.

Division 72 has arranged for a field day on July 5 that surpasses anything of its kind ever undertaken in Boston.

Fifty new members were received into the Indianapolis auxiliaries, when the degree work was beautifully exemplified.

Tuesday evening at Binghamton the Hibernians received the loving cup won in the forty-five contest with the C. M. B. A.

At a recent joint initiation in Brooklyn the four degrees were conferred on large classes for Divisions 10, 14, 16, 19 and 26.

Members of the Ancient Order will regret to learn of the critical illness of Capt. John B. Murphy at his home in Jeffersonville.

Everybody will be glad to know that we will have an Irish day celebration this year. Division 1 is making the preliminary arrangements.

Division 5 of San Francisco is advertised as the strongest division west of Chicago. It provides free medical attention for all members and their families.

Two more divisions are being organized in New York City. Those refusing compliance with the orders of the national officers will soon be few and of little force.

Tom Tarry explains his absence from recent meetings by saying that all the time he can spare from his business is given now to working for the success of the orphan picnic.

Hibernians of Erin, Minn., had a home coming celebration Wednesday that brought back many of the time residents. Ex-National President Regan delivered the address.

Division 3 meets Monday night.

Members of the order are very glad to see Martin Cusick again able to be out, though it may be some time yet before he can again engage in business.

June 22, 1866—The Rev. Edward Fitzgerald, pastor of St. Patrick's, Columbus, Ohio, preconized second Bishop of Little Rock, Ark.; born in Limerick, Ireland, in 1833; ordained by Archbishop Purcell in 1857; consecrated February 3, 1887; dedicated first church for Catholic negroes, at Pine Bluff, May 27, 1894; died in Hot Springs, February 21, 1907.

CAN'T STOP THEM.

The Olympics failed to stop the pennant rush of the Champions in the Twin City League last Sunday, and this was the only game played on account of the inclement weather. In the scheduled tomorrow Trinity will tackle the Champs, and George Rut, of the Y. M. I. boys, is quoted as saying that they will trim the leaders sure. Mackin will tackle the Bertrands for the second time, Olympics will play the Bruins, and Imperials will meet the K. of C. Much enthusiasm is being manifested by the league members in regard to the field meet at Eclipse Park on July 18, and it is predicted that it will be the biggest in the history of local amateur baseball. The standing of the league to date:

Champs	9	0	1.000
Olympics	5	2	.750
Bertrands	5	2	.714
K. of C.	5	3	.625
Bruins	2	5	.286
Mackin	2	5	.286
Trinity	2	6	.250
Imperials	0	8	.000

The league will entertain with a smoker for the benefit of the officers, officials and players next Friday evening at Bertrand Hall, when an address will be made by Very Rev. Father Crowley, pastor of St. Louis Bertrand's church.

FONTAINE FERRY PARK.

There are toe-dancers and toe-dancers, but the fact that Mazie King will be at the ferry this week means that Louisville is to have one of the cleverest and most artistic portrayals of that style of terpsichore. Frank Crumit, who will be very pleasantly remembered by local people for his excellent work with "The Queen of the Movies" when that big success played Macaulay's Theater last October, will be another big attraction on the bill. Other headline numbers will fill out a vaudeville bill of rare merit. The swimming pool continues to draw the crowds despite the weather, which was rather cool several nights this week, and everything points to a banner season for the big pool. Thursday the big St. John's day picnic will be held at the park.

HAPPY UNION.

Surrounded by many friends and relatives Robert J. Sullivan and Miss Louise Kodalle were united in marriage Wednesday afternoon at St. Martin's church, where they were showered with congratulations. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Sullivan and is one of the best known young men in the East End, where he has spent his life, and the bride is a lovely young woman who has been a favorite among her wide circle of friends. Following the wedding feast and reception the happy couple left to spend their honeymoon in the East.

PLEASING PROGRAMME.

The closing exercises of St. Leo's school, of Highland Park, will take place tomorrow evening in the school hall and a pleasing programme has been arranged, which includes several little playlets by the boys and girls of the school. The entertainment will begin at 8 o'clock and following the awarding of premiums there will be a short address by Rev. J. J. Fitzgerald, pastor of St. Leo's church.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.

The Lecturer of Louisville Council, K. of C., announces an entertaining and instructive lecture for the meeting next Wednesday night. Prof. Samuel B. Tinsley, Principal of the Male High School, will be the lecturer, and has taken for his subject "Alaska." It is hoped to have a good attendance on this occasion in order to pay Prof. Tinsley a well merited compliment.

IRELAND.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

Dr. Noonan, of Clonassie, has been appointed dispensary medical officer of Mountrath.

The death has occurred, rather unexpectedly, of James Doherty, Quin, Chairman of Tulla District Council.

The death of Patrick Kelly, Freshpark, is much regretted. He was a member of the Castlereagh District Council.

Michael Browne, Bleachlawn, has been co-opted a member of the Ballymore District Council in room of the late William Casey.

Rev. J. J. Dowdall, Bornacoola parish, has been appointed pastor of Legan, and he is succeeded by Father Duffy, Columbkille.

At the Birr Urban Council meeting Thomas Devoy, Chairman of the Birr Town Tenants' League, was co-opted a member of the council.

The Very Rev. Canon McKenna has been appointed a representative of the Monaghan County Council on the Castleblaney Old Age Pension Committee.

The death has occurred at New Ross Infirmary of a farmer named Denis Doyle from fracture of the base of the skull caused by a fall from a bicycle.

The premises of John Montgomery, funeral undertaker, Portadown, were completely destroyed by fire. The damage is said to be partly covered by insurance.

The death has occurred in Limerick of the Very Rev. Dean T. H. Shanahan, St. Munchin's, from the pastorate of which he retired owing to advancing age a few years ago.

Thomas Hynes has been unanimously elected Clerk of the Portumna Board of Guardians and District Council. Miss Mullen has been elected Matron of the Workhouse.

John Quinn, Secretary of the Tenant's Committee, has been informed by the Congested Districts Board that they have purchased the estate of Robert Blake, Ballyglunin. The amount of the purchase money is $303,490.

The Most Rev. Dr. Healy blessed and laid the foundation stone of a new church at Newport. The necessary funds were bequeathed by the late Martin Carey, and the church will be known as the Carey Memorial church.

At the Presentation convent, Thurles, Miss Lilly Duggan (in religion Sister Ursula) was professed as a nun of the Presentation order. The ceremony was performed by the Most Rev. Dr. Harty, Archbishop of Cashel and Emly.

Thomas Kettle, in military uniform, recently addressed a small meeting at Market Square, Dundalk. He asked the young men of that town to join the English army. His appeal fell on deaf ears and his efforts did not result in getting one recruit.

The dead body of Patrick Broderick, a well-to-do farmer, was found lying on the road which runs from Castlebar to Ballyheane. An inquest was held on the body and the jury found in accordance with the medical testimony that death was due to heart failure.

The Most Rev. Dr. Brownrigg, Bishop of Ossory, has appointed Rev. Thomas Bowe, Diocesan Inspector, to the pastoral charge of Castletown, rendered vacant by the death of the late Rev. James Holohan. Father Bowe had acted as Diocesan Inspector for the past seventeen years.

COLONELS' OPPORTUNITY.

The Louisville ball club will again tackle their Jonah team this afternoon, tomorrow and Monday, the Cleveland team being one of our hardest nuts to crack, but after dispelling the Milwaukee hoodoo it is hoped this series will finish the one connected with the near Toledo, who before the beginning of the present series had beaten Louisville four out of seven games. After Cleveland the Columbus team will come for a series of four games, which will be the last until July 3, when the pennant leaders will come for the most important games of the season. The home showing of the Colonels is a good one, as is shown by the following: Three out of four from Kansas City, one out of three from Minneapolis, three out of four from Milwaukee and two out of four from St. Paul, making nine out of fifteen, which is very creditable considering that Platte and Weinberg were out for over a week and Clemons for several days. It is hoped that the club will do more than break even with the Cleveland and Columbus teams to further continue this good showing, and also that Jupiter Pluvius will give the fans a chance to turn out en masse tomorrow to witness the double header.

CHURCH PICNIC.

Rev. Father Bohlsen and the people of Holy Trinity congregation, St. Matthews, are preparing to give a church picnic on July 28. It will be held on the beautiful and shady grounds of Alexander Staebler, on Chenoweth lane, about three minutes' walk from the Interurban station. The Catholics of St. Matthews wish to express their appreciation of the presence of so many of the clergy, Knights of St. John, Catholic Knights of America and the many lay visitors and their participation in the cornerstone laying of the new church.

ST. XAVIER'S COLLEGE.

The commencement exercises of St. Xavier's College will be held in the college hall next Monday and Tuesday nights, when the largest class in the history of that institution will be graduated. This year's programme is one of exceptional merit and will be rendered in a manner pleasing to the followers of the Xaverian Brothers. Right Rev.
Bishop O'Donoghue and many of the clergy will grace the occasion with their presence. The Bishop will deliver an address and also the Rev. Louis G. Deppen, County Treasurer Thomas D. Clines will deliver the alumni address.

KREPS—SCHOO.
The marriage of Miss Helen Kreps to Ollie J. Schoo was solemnized Wednesday morning at St.
Boniface church. The Rev. Leonard Nurse performed the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. Patrick Mc-Arron and the Rev. Gabriel Linfort, of Cincinnati, which was followed by a reception given by the bride's parents for the two immediate families. Miss Mayme Hinkle was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Rose Scott and Miss Rose
McMorris. Little Miss Marcella
Kreps was her sister's flower girl, and the only other attendants were the ushers, Messrs. Herman Krebs, Albert Bismeyer, Henry Mazzoni
and Fred Michael. The happy pair are now on their bridal trip, and on their return they will be at their new home, 2408 Eastern Parkway.

HOSSESSSES.
The outlook is for a large gathering
at the euchar and lotto entertainment to be given next Tuesday afternoon and evening at Phoenix
Hill Park for the benefit of St.
Patrick's new school, for which special preparations have been made.
The hostesses for this occasion will be Mrs. Maggie Corrigan, Mrs.
Leo A. Schmitt, Miss Elizabeth
Stanley, Miss Margaret Glenn, Mrs.
John H. King, Mrs. John St. Hill,
Mrs. Mary Nash, Miss Julia Kelly,
Mrs. Alfred Grimes, and they hope to entertain all their friends.

MACKIN'S DELEGATES.
Monday night Mackin Council, Y.
M. I., held a spirited election, when delegates to the coming Atlantic Jurisdiction Grand Council convention were chosen. The convention will be held here in August, and many sought the honor of representing Mackin Council. The successful candidates were John W. Murphy,
W. A. Link, George J. Thornton, L.
Sherley Cuniff and Will G. Buckel.

SILVER JUBILEE.
With elaborate ceremony and visitors present from all over the State, Jasper College, one of Indiana's leading Catholic educational institutions, this week celebrated its silver jubilee. A large number of clergy participated in the celebration, among them being Rev.
Father Seibert, of New Albany, and
Rev. Father Sermersheim, of St.
Mary's of the Knobs.

COLORADO CATHOLIC SCHOOLS.
Arrangements are being made for an exhibit of the Catholic colored schools of Ohio at the Emancipation Exposition in Chicago in August.
The Catholic colored schools in this country number 165.

FALSE RUMORS.
It has been rumored from time to time that several leading firms and corporations of national reputation have been contributing to the support of the vile and filthy Menace, hoping thereby to injure the Catholic church, but four of the most prominent are out in official statements denying connection,
among them being the Kellogg Company, Colgate & Co., Huyler's
and Welch, of grape juice fame, the latter firm stating that the story concerning them emanated from the Red Wing grape juice firm, a rival concern, and charged that the latter's salesmen were directed to circulate that rumor. The Welch people further stated that they donated a building for Catholic church services since the burning of the Catholic church in Westfield, N. Y., where they are located. The Kellogg Company cite the fact that several of their district managers and officials are members of the Knights of Columbus. So much for rumors.

EDUCATION CONVENTION.
In point of attendance the coming convention of the Catholic Educational Association, promises to be one of the largest in its history. This will be the twelfth annual meeting of the association and the first held in the Northwest. The East will send a very large contingent and other points throughout the country will be most generously represented. The details of the convention are now well in hand, and the local committees, comprising priests
of the Twin Cities, promises a cordial welcome to all delegates and friends of Catholic education. Archbishop Ireland, who has taken a most active interest in the preparations for the convention, will entertain at dinner every evening, having as his guests the prominent delegates in attendance. All tickets from the East to San Francisco have the privilege of a stop-over on the railroads passing through St. Paul.

PASSIONIST MONASTERY.
The Passionist Fathers, who more than a year ago made arrangements to establish in Des Moines, Iowa, a branch house of their order, have purchased a site for their monastery at Twentieth street and St.
Joseph avenue, comprising about twenty-five acres. No definite plans are as yet made for the erection of any buildings, but it is but a matter of a short time when a monastery
will be in charge and young men with an inclination for the priesthood will be given an opportunity of pursuing their studies to that end. The order now has a chapel on Ninth street, near Jefferson,
where mass is said every Sunday.

CHURCH AND MEXICO.
Dr. W. H. Sloan, writing for the Missionary, tells what the church did
for Mexico:
Vanquished cannibalism and paganism.
She overthrew idolatry and established the Christian religion in its place.
She abolished polygamy, and taught the Indian races of Mexico and Western North America the sanctity of the marriage relation.
She was the first in the New World to establish for the native
races universities, colleges, schools, hospitals, orphan asylums, conservatories of music and industrial schools.
She improved the social and domestic life of the natives through the training she gave them in agricultural arts, industrial pursuits and the learning of useful trades.
She made Mexico a center of missionary effort for Western North America, sending her missionaries among all the races occupying the country extending from Behring Strait to the Isthmus of Darien. Her efforts extended as far east as the Missouri river and Florida.

NEVER TARNISHES.
Perhaps you don't go to church frequently, and perhaps you do. If you are a regular attendant you may spend as many as three hours out of each week's 112 waking hours in church. During the remaining 109 hours of the week you do a lot of things and go to many places.
To how many places do you go in a week that you wish you had not visited? To how many places do you go upon leaving which you feel the worse for the visit? Did you ever go to church and upon leaving regret the visit? Did you ever feel the worse for having attended church? Why do we go least to the place which we never regret visiting or suffer loss because of the visit?

FOR WOMAN'S EYE.
Conditions would seem to point to a silk winter.
For girls' morning and play frocks
more simplicity prevails.
Waists for young girls and children incline to plainness, as is the case with their elders.
Women now rather eschew wearing flowers either with their afternoon or evening costumes.
For children's dresses the materials used are chiefly organdy, narrow tulle, batiste and lightweight taffeta.
Boys may wear the popular Norfolk in tweed or in serge, and the trousers may be either straight or in knickerbocker style.
Though the wearing of summer
frocks is just beginning, advance autumn models are already making their bow to the trade.
With the late season there seems to have come a taste for broader stripes, wider spacing, but the narrower stripes are modish.
The silk suit is becoming ubiquitous as the weather grows warmer, and the models range from the simplest to the most elaborate.
Evening frocks of white taffeta are liked, and are usually fashioned on the fitted bodice, full skirt, drop shoulder lines, to which taffeta
seems peculiarly adapted.
Wash materials that are popular for the younger boys' suits are linens, percales, gingham, piques, and even that khaki cloth which is such an excellent fabric for rough wear.

HOLY CROSS.

A wedding of much interest will be solemnized with a nuptial mass
Wednesday morning at Holy Cross church, Thirty-second and Broadway, the contracting parties being Miss Margaret A. Dalton and Thomas J. Newman. The bride-elect is the lovely and accomplished daughter of Mrs. Ella Dalton, of Grainger Court, and is a favorite in her society circle. Mr. Newman is a successful young man and is well known in business both here and in Frankfort. The Rev. Father Bren will be the officiating clergyman.

MACKIN COUNCIL.
There was a good attendance at the meeting of Mackin Council this week, which was spirited and interesting. The plans for the improvement of the club house are moving along satisfactorily, the work on which will soon begin. Reports showed a good sale of tickets for the Homer Smith moonlight excursion on Tuesday evening, June 29, and all who attend are promised an enjoyable river trip. The outing committee announced that great interest was being taken in the reunion to be held at Fern Grove on July 20 and nothing will be left undone to make it surpass any former occasion of the kind. A number of added entries are expected in the ticket selling contest for the $50
diamond ring.

CASSIN MADE PRESIDENT.
Will A. Cassin, the well known young West End attorney, has been elected first President of the Kentucky Majors, a recently formed social organization, which already has 100 members and is non-partisan and non-sectarian. Its club rooms are at Twenty-fifth and Main.

MUSICAL RECITAL.
A musical treat awaits those who visit Bardwell Hall, 425 Fourth avenue, next Wednesday night, when the pupils of Miss Hester J.
Stephens will give a vocal and piano recital. The programme is classic and artistic and consists of seventeen numbers.

MARRIAGE AT ST. JAMES.
The marriage of Miss Laura May Hirst and P. H. M. O'Bryan was quietly solemnized Wednesday morning at St. James church, the Rev.
E. Erle Willet officiating. Mr. and Mrs. O'Bryan have gone on a trip to the lakes and Canada and on their return, July 1, will be with the bride's sister, Mrs. Earl Nofsinger, Eastern Parkway.

UNION TOWN.
A very pretty wedding was solemnized Tuesday morning in St.
Agnes church at Uniontown, when Miss Mary Willie Pfeffer became
the bride of Raymond McGowan, Rev. Father Kellenaers performing the ceremony. Both bride and groom are widely known and many friends were present to witness their marriage and extend congratulations.

PURE IN IRELAND.
A recent census shows that whereas in England and Wales the constabulary are as one to 815 of the population, in Ireland they are one to 316, and their relative costliness is in like proportion. Moreover there are some 20,000 trained troops, and according to some estimates considerably more, in garrison in Ireland, besides an additional 20,000 of the Carsonite Volunteers who, after over a year's training by army experts as an anti-Government force and eight months' training at the Government's expense, have not yet gone to the front, whether the Nationalist Volunteers were sent within a few weeks after enlistment. Whether this, or traditional anti-enlisting sentiment, or the suppression of organs that advised Irishmen to serve their country at home, or the evolution of a coalition government that included Sir Edward Carson and Lord Lansdowne, the Orange leaders, as important Cabinet officers, or the secret distribution of anti-enlistment literature, has had a cooling influence is unascertain-able, but the fact that recruiting is a failure is certain.
